

Thank You, Ray!!!

Retiring Gammon Barn Chairman Ray Dittmer of Lacona didn't know why his wife Jan insisted on going to the Iowa State Fair on a day he wasn't scheduled to work in the museum. He found out midway through the open Hereford Show when IHBA President Nathan Stickley made a surprise ringside presentation recognizing Ray's 13-year stint of curating and overseeing the museum.

An Iowa Hereford Hall of Famer, Ray has been part of the Hereford community since childhood. He showed Herefords in 4-H in the 1950's and bought his first membership in the Polled Hereford Association in 1966. Now 85, Ray has always been of the mindset that if you appreciate a program or service, you should participate in its upkeep so that it will be available for others. The birthplace of the Polled Hereford breed, the Gammon Barn was originally located in Warren County before being moved to the State Fairgrounds and converted into a museum. It holds a special place in Ray's heart because the breed his family raised started in his home county. In 2012, Ray took it upon himself to archive materials, maintain the building, call for volunteer assistance and staff the museum each day of the fair. Being a thrifty man, Ray even stayed at the Youth Inn for the duration of the fair – and the building didn't get air conditioning until his third year managing the Gammon Barn Museum! Thank you, Ray, for your dedication and devotion.

THANK YOU to the following volunteers for staffing the Gammon Barn this year:

Start planning NOW for the 2026 IHBA Steer Futurity!!

Iowa Hereford Breeders...

As you sell steers this fall, you can pass the word about this program and encourage participation. It can be good exposure for your herd, and you can give your young customers an opportunity to win CASH back! Be sure to collect DNA on both the steers you sell and any parents not already DNA completed so they can be submitted for processing. Don't forget to collect DNA from any cows that may be culled this fall, before they are shipped.

AM I FULL OF CRAP?

Calf scours are not inevitable. A strong prevention program is non-negotiable. Dependable scour prevention is essential for calf welfare, employee morale and business profitability. The immune system's response to vaccination is variable and unpredictable. That's why giving preformed antibodies instead of relying on a vaccine to stimulate antibody production is so important. I'm all for removing uncertainties. So yes, I stand by this product. (And no, I'm not.)

Iowa Hereford Tour is Well Attended

A beautiful late August day in north central Iowa was the setting for the August 24th Iowa Hereford Tour. Mild temperatures provided a pleasant day to view the high-quality cattle on display at the four tour stops, as well for a pleasant time to visit with other attendees. The stops included a variety of long-time and Hall of Fame herd owners, as well as a younger generation taking over, and each provided unique perspectives.

The tour started with attendees gathering at the edge of Parkersburg, Iowa, at Stickley & Sons. Nathan and Russ Stickley welcomed the group and gave an overview of their operation. Well-organized displays of Hereford cattle were grouped and arranged for easy viewing. Delicious donuts were available as people arrived and door prizes were handed out as the group gathered to wrap up and head on to the next stop.

Steve Landt welcomed the tour to the second stop at Landt Herefords near Union and explained the “family focus” of their operation, after which the group enjoyed viewing their cow herd in various pens. Homemade cookies were a special treat offered to the guests.

The Hardin County Fairgrounds provided an ideal location for the noon stop, which included a meal provided by Babe's Steakhouse. The IHBA annual meeting included "Year in Review" updates and election of directors.

The afternoon stops began with Double J Herefords near Iowa Falls. Kevin, Lynn and Colin Johnson welcomed the group and explained their spring and fall calving program which includes purebred Herefords, Angus and a line of F1 black baldies.

A pasture tour followed with an enjoyable ride to see their cow-calf pairs and fall calvers waiting to get started.

The final stop of the day was H&H Cattle Company near Alden. Kent and Andrea Hickman and family welcomed the tour attendees as everyone arrived, followed by viewing cattle. An impressive set of bull calves was on display, amongst their herd. After refreshments and final door prizes, the 2025 tour wrapped up and travelers headed home after a very enjoyable day.

THANKS to each of the host families and to Colin Johnson for organizing the day.

Governor's Charity Steer Show

Dusting off showing skills learned years ago as a Dallas County 4-H'er, Iowa Attorney General Brenna Bird was the celebrity showperson for the Iowa Junior Hereford Association entry in the 43rd annual Iowa Governor's Charity Steer Show. She was assisted by exhibitor Logan Keppler of Indianola, who was one of the youngest participants in the event. His steer, "Buddy", was bred by Amos Hereford Farm, also of Indianola.

This year's event raised $569,000 for the Ronald McDonald House Charities of Iowa, pushing total donations to over $6 million dollars since its inception in 1983. At the auction following the show, Buddy brought $5,554.

Thank you to the following Iowa Hereford supporters who donated to that total:

Brandt

Biddle

Austin Brandt of Corning is the new central region field representative. His territory includes Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri and Nebraska. He will represent AHA members in the region, attending Hereford sales and events and working to broaden relationships across the industry. He will also help Hereford breeders and commercial users of Hereford genetics utilize AHA promotional and marketing programs. Austin can be contacted at 712-621-1829; email abrandt@hereford.org.

Former IHBA President and Iowa Hereford Queen Karly Biddle of Walcott started with the AHA records department in July.
